

Angel Needs a Home

Angel was taken in by Parrett Veterinary Clinic in August of 2007. She is approx 3 years of age, spayed/female, German Shep/Husky Mix.

Angel requires a special home... She is not good with strangers and will need very minimal contact with new people. Angel would prefer a home with a single adult female and no other animals. She would like to have her person all to herself. She has been good with some dogs she has been introduced to but the introduction must be done carefully.

She is currently in training. Learning skills such as: Sit, attention, down, coming when called, leash walking and tricks. She is crate trained and pretty well house trained – but will need to be closely supervised until she learns the new schedule. She is eating California Natural Reduced Fat – due to her having a sensitive digestive track. She does very well on this food and does not have problems with stool quality on this food.

If you think Angel may be the dog for you, please contact me cell: 574-780-3302!

